

Job Search Results

Assistant or Associate Professor - Teaching Innovation

University of Washington School of Nursing in Washington

- Save
- Print

Deadline Open until filled

Date Posted September 10, 2015

Type Tenured, tenure track

Salary Commensurate with experience

Employment Type Full-time

The University of Washington School of Nursing (UWSoN) seeks applications for a full time, 9-month faculty position at the level of tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor to lead faculty in teaching innovation. The anticipated start date is January 4, 2016.

An earned PhD, or equivalent (e.g. DNP, EdD), in nursing science, education, or related field or a related discipline is required. Licensure as an RN is not required. Candidates should show evidence of specific accomplishments demonstrating an ability to innovate and create new effective models of learning and teaching in nursing and/or health care, including experiences related to diversity, equity and inclusion; the ability to integrate knowledge of learning theory, current and developing pedagogical technology, and information from a wide range of fields; the personal and professional skills needed to create a collaborative implementation environment within the UWSoN faculty.

This position is a unique opportunity to lead an initiative that creates the next generation of nursing pedagogy. New teaching technologies, new knowledge about how adults learn, new professional roles for nurses, distance learning that spans the globe, increased interprofessional education—we stand at the confluence of all these trends and seek someone who finds this an exciting opportunity for disruptive innovation that supports, enables, advances, and sustains the vision of the UWSoN.

We seek a leader who will champion the development, implementation, and evaluation of new educational strategies—not just evolutionary, but also revolutionary strategies. These strategies will align with and advance the Universitys and Schools mission, vision, values, and strategic plan.

This position is a critical component for fulfilling the commitment of the university and UWSoN to being a national leader in nursing education. It is an integral part of the university and UWSoNs strategic plan for advancing research, education, and service. The successful candidate will lead innovative education initiatives; pursue funding for educational innovations; and teach or co-teach across all levels of the UWSoN programs (BSN, MN, MS, DNP, and PhD).

The UWSoNs three academic departments, the Department of Biobehavioral Nursing and Health Systems, Department of Family and Child Nursing, and Department of Psychosocial and Community Health, excel at supporting research and fostering growth of faculty, staff, and students.

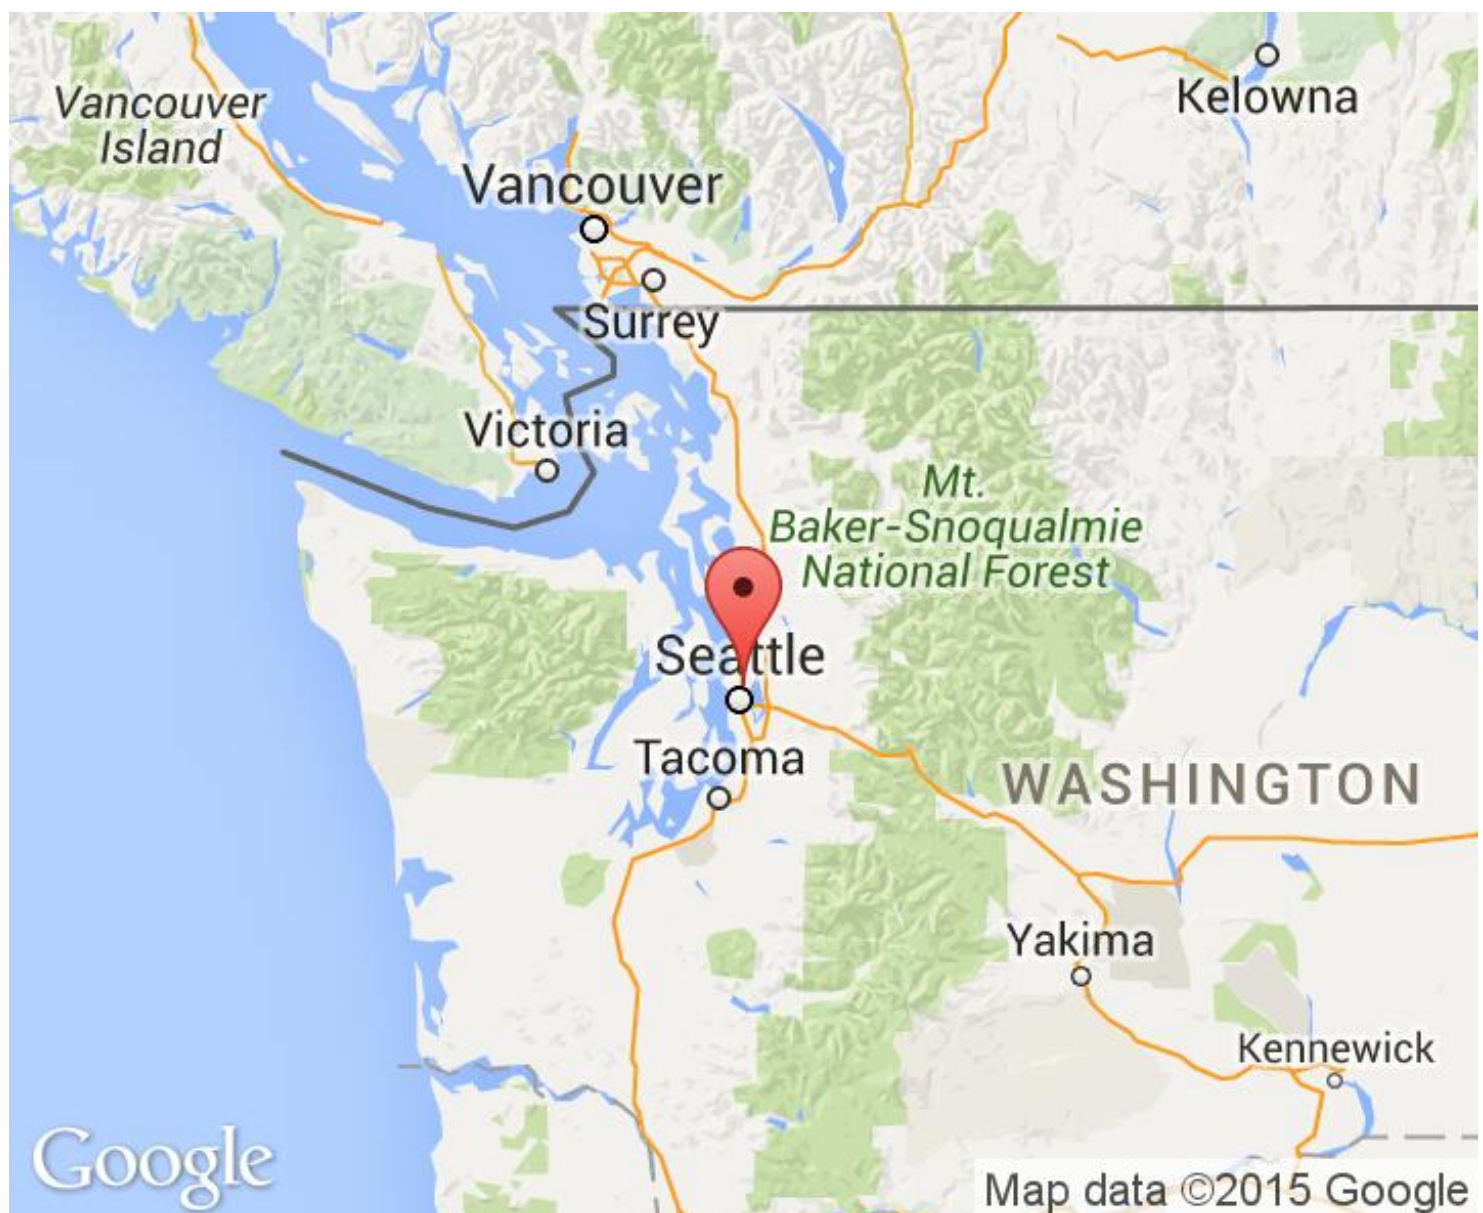

The University of Washington serves a diverse population of 80,000 students, faculty and staff, including 25% first-generation college students, over 25% Pell Grant students, and faculty from over 70 countries. University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research and service. The University has robust resources such as the Center for Teaching and Learning and the UW Libraries and their school-specific liaisons. In accord with the Universitys expressed commitment to excellence and equity, contributions in scholarship and research, teaching, and service that address diversity and equal opportunity may be included among the qualifications for appointment, reappointment, and promotion.

Seattle is a culturally diverse urban center with growing racial, ethnic, and immigrant communities. With the regions Cascade Mountains, Puget Sound beaches and busy waterways, Seattle offers an unmatched wealth of al fresco activities in and near the city.

University of Washington is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, protected veteran or disabled status, or genetic information.

Priority consideration will be given to those whose materials are received by September 30, 2015. To apply, please send a cover letter, a statement of teaching philosophy, and curriculum vitae to:

sonhr@uw.edu

People at University of Washington

Log In or Sign Up to see Vitae members at this institution.

Jobs at University of Washington

- Assistant Professor and Open-Rank \(Asst, Assoc.Full\) Empirical Microeconomics

University of Washington

- ASSISTANT or ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

University of Washington

- Clinical Assistant Professor or Clinical Associate Professor & Director of Radiology

Department of Radiology

- Assistant Professor, German History

University of Washington

- Assistant Professor or Associate Professor \(without tenure\)

University of Washington

How To Apply

It's easy, fast, and FREE to manage your job search on Vitae.

- Organize all the documents needed to apply for this position in Vitae's FREE dossier service
- Request letters of recommendation, provide references, and submit applications directly from Vitae
- Manage your job search, whether as a teaching assistant, a tenure-track professor, or a top administrator

Sign Up & Apply with Vitae

To apply without using Vitae

Send all required documents to sonhr@uw.edu

Already have a Vitae account?

Sign in below to start a new application for this job.

E-mail

Password

Forgot your password?